THE FUTURE OF FUSION

THE NEXT GENERATION OF TRACSTAR® MACHINES offers the industry a sophisticated, rugged and productive fusion machine. Numerous improvements have advanced the level of technology available while simultaneously hardening that technology to make the entire fusion experience more reliable. The TracStar iSeries features new emission-compliant engines, a CAN bus control system, along with numerous hydraulic, mechanical and electrical upgrades. Integrated, software-controlled machine options from manual to fully automatic improves operator consistency and adherence to standards.

CAN bus system

architecture increases communication between devices and information available to operator

New cowling design accommodates fusing of tees and other complex fittings without removing carriage from vehicle

New indexer collision-avoidance sensors to prevent damage to heater and facer

New braided wiring harness and sealed connectors for improved robustness in outdoor environments

Stage V- and Stage IIIA-compliant Perkins engine

meets environmental requirements, generates less noise, offers greater torque for load response

Updated track motor design provides better stability and traction on uneven terrain

Indexer design common between 630, 900 and 1200
